Telegrams.

HAVAS

Rio Janeiro, 15th—Advices from Campinas announce fresh virulence in the spread of yellow fever in that city, in spite of all the sanitary precautions of the authorities.

WEST COAST TELEGRAMS

Callao, 15th—Affairs in the Government are at a complete standstill in view of the critical state of politics.

There was a serious disturbance at the close of the proceedings of a Pierolista meeting. The Pierolistas clashed with the patriots of another meeting and the police after much difficulty restored order.

The supporters of the Rospigliossi candidature are beginning to organise.

All hopes of conciliation between the contending parties are abandoned.

The solemn proclamation of the Morales Bermuda candidature will soon take place. The electoral committee are determined to celebrate the event with more eclat than any other party.

A decree of the Government is just out increasing all the police forces in the country until the present electoral excitement abates.

The site of the old Inca town of Tumbes has been discovered. A company has been formed to make excavations and dig out the enormous treasure supposed to be buried in the ruins.

Vice-Governor Echavarria and Dr. J R. Vidal have gone for a trip to Asuncion.

MARRIED MEN ON THE CRISIS.

Whether it is that marriage affords increased facilities for acquiring wisdom, or that connubial felicity sharpens the observant power of the mind and strengthens the judgment, or that the experience of domestic government raises a man to an eminent philosophic stand-point, from which he can take a calmer survey of sublunary affairs, it is a remarkable circumstance that married-men have very sound views on even the most unsound matters. Not that we wish to raise a storm by inveighing against the solitude and selfishness of celibacy or to endorse the profound convictions of such a gentleman as Mr Weller, for instance, whose deeply-seated hatred of "widders," so far as can be gathered from his loquacious box-seat philosophy, was fanned into an imperishable flame by jam-pots and other tender tokens of widow's affection pressed upon him in the postnubial period of his dashing career. No, the extreme delicacy of such a question forbids us to probe too deep, and we are by no means desirous of drawing an invidious and, at all events, uncalled-for distinction between the respective powers of thought of married and unmarried men. It will ever remain an unsettled problem whether Mr Weller, by the frequent exposition of his views on matrimony and his discovery that "velth and visdom always grow together" has conferred a more lasting benefit on society than his dutiful son, the immortal Sam, who single-handed and handicapped by his unmarried condition, traced a startling connexion between the superabundance of oyster-shells and the poverty of the masses. What we stoutly maintain, in the presence of overwhelming evidence, is that there is some peculiar—nay, mysterious—influence which matrimony sheds on the mind, regulating its tendencies and adding weight and soundness to views which, if tarnished with the flippancy of celibacy, would lose their force and pass away unnoticed. The marriage of Mr. Cleveland was followed by a remarkable development of free-trade principles in that presidential dignitary; and who can say where the wisdom and talent of President Herrera will stop when he begins to add to his already vast stock of knowledge the experiences of matrimonial bliss? These are very deep problems which might tempt the pen of the sociological philosopher.

In Buenos Ayres married men are subject to the peculiar and mysterious influence we have endeavored to bring within the range of the comprehension of our bachelor readers, and so far these marriage-tinted views on the crisis have proved the soundest. However, let us draw a distinction, in order to anticipate and overrule beforehand an objection that a bachelor, with all the fire of celibacy, would raise. The President of the Republic is a married man; so is Dr. Pacheco. But the one looks at the situation and devises remedies from a presidential point of view, and the other takes a ministerial survey of affairs. There's the mistake, and that is why we hail with all the warmth of congenial conviction the views of a "paterfamilias" in the columns of a morning contemporary. "Star-fish"—such is the "nom de plume" that conceals the individuality of our paterfamilias, without affording the slightest clue to his identification—is not afraid to brave the sneers of a numerous body of bachelors, and proclaims himself a husband and a father. He examines the situation, not as a broker, nor a banker, nor a "barraquero," but as a married man. He says not a word about the Bolsa, nor about the banks. Neither does he hint at fresh issues, nor does he proclaim a lofty patriotism. No, he hurls his dart against luxury and its train of idleness, vices, and corruption, "thou curst by Heaven's decree!"

And who will gainsay him, or question his right to expound his views? Here we have a gentleman who, in his character of paterfamilias, combines the triple authority of executive, legislative and judicial power. What political foresight can equal the care with which he trains the minds of his little subjects and, within the narrow limits of his realm, impresses them with correct views on the value of money? What wise economist will not envy the caution with which he at first establishes a copper circulation, and little by little issues a fractionary currency, as Mr. Agote would say? By and bye, as they grow older, to meet but not to overstep their wants, he establishes a sort of free-banking system and demands a full reserve of common sense, the only kind of gold which, according to the London bankers, we need here. With what care and skill and paternal solicitude he prevents the outbreaks of petty jealousies, or the clashing of conflicting and precocious opinions, and all are bound, not by hoops of steel, but links of harmony. His public works consist perhaps in the addition of a new room to the house, the widening of a staircase to facilitate communication, and such like improvements that will not destroy the equilibrium in the monthly budget, so rigidly balanced, to avoid even the possibility of deficit. Such a man is a born finance-minister: his views command and deserve respect. After sketching such a picture we are inclined to think the Tucuman Congressmen should have set it forth that no citizen should become Finance-Minister unless he were the father of at least ten children.

Mark him well. He hurls the dart against luxury, against dresses and jewelry, horses and carriages, marriage presents, and all the social paraphernalia that make up the misery of a married man's existence.

And yet there are some, probably crusty old bachelors, who maintain that the more luxury the better; that the overgrowth of wealth and the follies of extravagance fill the pockets of the saving and thrifty; in a word, that luxury is essential to the well-being of society. Arsenic, aconite and laudanum are often prescribed to restore or maintain health, but from that to the conclusion that poison is necessary to health there is, as Voltaire points out, an immeasurable distance. And so it is with luxury. A little is often good, but the excess is ever the precursor of degeneracy. Just before the fall of the Roman Empire the furthest corners of the world were ransacked to minister to Roman luxury; and such was the degree of corruption and degeneracy that, as Gibbon observes, "Roman" was a stinging epithet, implying total loss of energy and vitality. There was a time when "Romanus civis sum" enforced universal respect, and even excited admiration. Tacitus recoils with horror on discovering the enormous amount of money paid to foreigners for jewelry and adornments. He would undoubtedly faint if he could see Buenos Ayres and its countless jewellers' and dressmakers' shops, and he would unquestionably assign the same cause and prescribe the same remedy as "Star-fish" or any other married man in town.

The Government can do nothing to stop luxury. It has been tried. Edward III., we are told, tried, but failed to suppress it. He even went so far as to forbid more than two dishes at one meal. In those days the sensible part of John Bull was his stomach; to-day it is his pocket. The people themselves must put their shoulder to the wheel, throw off their rings and bracelets and Parisian fashions, and return to the simplicity which prevailed a few years ago.

MR. GOSCHEN'S SURPLUS.

London, Feb. 10.

To-morrow Parliament opens, and the Government organs assure us that Mr. Goschen will make the cheering announcement of a surplus of four millions sterling. It is better than having a deficit, but is far from showing the Chancellor of the Exchequer to be a finished adept in finance. Adam Smith truly says that it is bad finance if a shilling more be taken from the tax-payer than may fairly be estimated sufficient to meet expenditure. How is it possible that Mr. Goschen did not see last year that the estimates were five per cent. too high? Had he done so he could have taken off two pence in the Income-tax instead of proposing a new burthen in the shape of a Wheel-tax, which he had, nevertheless, to abandon. A reduction of two pence in the Income-tax would have been a great blessing to thousands of struggling families.

But it is useless now to regret that we had not a more far-seeing Finance-Minister. The question is, what are we to do with the money so needlessly collected from the British tax-payer? It is rumored that one million sterling will be given to the Board Schools to enable them to forego or reduce fees. As for the remainder, it would be most advisable to apply it to a removal of the duty on coffee, which is at present two pence per pound or twenty-five per cent. ad valorem. This duty produces £300,000 a year, and like all taxes on food weighs enormously on the working classes. But there is another reason why the Coffee duty is most injurious, namely that Coffee is the great enemy of intemperance. If we want to lift up the next generation of English working people from the quagmire of drunkenness in which a great portion of the nation is sunk we must begin by encouraging the use of coffee as a stimulant, and likewise throw open the Museums on Sunday. Coffee is one of the greatest gifts to mankind, and its value is far from being appreciated. London cabmen, sailors before the mast and others who are exposed to rough weather are specially in need of stimulants, and if you tax coffee heavily you in a manner compel them to fall back on alcoholic drinks.

What I say of coffee is also in some way applicable to tea also, and there is really no sound reason for upholding the severe and iniquitous taxes that fall on the working-man's breakfast table. England is daily accumulating wealth, but there is no serious effort made to abolish taxes on food. The present surplus of 4 millions is sufficient proof that the country is over-taxed, that is beyond the requirements of good government.

Unfortunately there are rumours on all sides that Lord Salisbury means to make a large demand from Parliament to rescue the Irish landlords from the hard times which agricultural depression has brought upon land owners on both sides of St. George's Channel. At first a vote of 20 millions sterling is to be asked for, which will suffice to buy up 500 of the most necessitous at an average of £40,000 each. Possibly John Bull may rub his eyes and say "This is good fun for my lords Abercorn, Lansdowne, etc., but I see no reason why the nation is to be extra-taxed for their especial benefit." In that case the House of Commons may reject the project, which has few supporters even in Ireland.

Agricultural depression is not confined to England or Ireland. You find it in every country in Europe, and its effects have fallen on landowners everywhere. The idea of making the British Treasury compensate Irish landlords is very abnormal statesmanship, and could only be excusable if the people of Ireland had petitioned Parliament to come to the rescue of their beloved landlords. Some Englishmen have ventured to say that it is ingratitude on the part of Ireland to view with indifference the working of the Ashbourne Act, by which England gives money so munificently to Irishmen. A moment's reflection would convince them that Ireland is no richer by these successive votes of millions of British money. To call Lord Aberdeen, Lord Landsdowne, Mr Smith-Barry etc. Irishmen is ludicrous. Those gentlemen get the money let them be thankful.

To return to the question of Mr Goschen's surplus, we may be sure that financial problems will form the keenest matters of debate in this session. They are usually the most trying to any Cabinet, for all good government resolves itself into finance. It has been customary to regard Mr Goschen as a first-class man for the post he holds, and certainly his conversion of the National Debt entitles him to the respect and gratitude of the people. The surplus is an error which is readily forgiven. But the larger question of buying up the Irish landlords is one from which he will perhaps recoil, and which may lead to his retirement from office. He is said to view the subject with great misgivings. In another week we shall know the minds of Lord Salisbury and the general feeling of the nation. Meantime there is one powerful argument in favor of the proposed measure, namely that since the introduction of the Ashbourne Act not a shilling has been lost to the Treasury, the tenants punctually paying up every half-year their obligations as purchasers of their farms.

THE LABOUR QUESTION.

SPEECH OF THE GERMAN EMPEROR.

Berlin, Feb. 14.

The Emperor, accompanied by Prince Bismarck and Count Moltke, opened the Session of the Council of State at three o'clock this afternoon in the Elizabeth Hall of the Royal Palace, where the Emperor Frederick presided over the first sitting of that body. His Majesty began by reading the following address:—

"Gentlemen of the Council of State,—You have been informed by my Decree of the 4th inst. that it is my desire to hear the opinion of the Council as to the measures necessary for the better regulation of the condition of the working classes The importance of the Council in the Monarchy is such that the grave questions which in this direction call for a right solution must first be submitted to thorough consideration at your hands before the Bills connected with them go to the Parliamentary Assemblies to which the final decision pertains under the Constitution. I attach great weight to the conscientious and unprejudiced investigations of the State Council, which consists of representatives of the most varied callings, into the expediency, practicality, and extent of my proposals.

"The task to the execution of which I have summoned you is a grave and responsible one. The protection to be accorded to the working classes against the arbitrary and unchecked exploitation of their toil; the restrictions to be imposed on child labour in obedience to the dictates of humanity and to the natural laws of development; the regard due to the position of women in working-men's households, important as that is to the family, both in a moral and economic sense; and other matters connected with the everyday life of the working classes, are all capable of improved regulation. Moreover, it must be considered, with all the caution and knowledge of experts in such subjects, how far our industries can bear the increase in the cost of production which must result from stricter rules in favour of workers, without prejudice to their remunerative employment in competition in the international market. Any other outcome would constitute a change for the worse in the condition of the working classes, instead of the improvement which I desire to bring about. A well-conceived and well-considered measure is essential if this danger is to be avoided. The proper solution of these burning questions of the day is the more important as on it must depend, to a great extent, the nature of the International agreement proposed by me.

"No less important, in view of the securing harmonious relations between employers and employed, are the modes in which a guarantee is to be given to the workers that they shall have a share in the regulation of their common work, and be enabled to state their case to their employers through representatives possessing their confidence. It will be necessary to establish connection between the representatives of the working men and the State Inspectors and mining officials, and in that way to evolve forms and regulations by which the workers will be able to give free and peaceful expression to their wishes and interests, and the State authorities be enabled to keep themselves rightly and constantly informed as to the circumstances of the working men by communications with the persons immediately concerned, and also to maintain the necessary contact with them. The development of the industrial enterprises carried on by the State into models of effective supervision over and regard for the working classes also requires the most thorough and competent consideration.

"I rely on the tried devotion of the Council of State in the work now before it. I do not ignore the fact that in this direction all the improvements that one can wish cannot be effected by State measures alone. A wide field of activity lies open for the untrammelled and beneficent work of the Church and the School, by which the regulations of the law must be supported and turned to account if they are to have their full effect. But if, with God's help, it prove possible to safeguard the true interests of the working people by means of the proposals that you will make, your labours will command my gratitude as King and the recognition of the country.

"The plans to be discussed by you will be laid before you at once. I direct that the Department for Commerce, Industry, Public Works, Railways, and Mines, and that for affairs of internal administration, to which I shall appoint a number of experts, shall take part in the debates. I request the members of these Departments to meet at the place to be indicated to them at eleven o'clock on the 26th instant. I appoint Burgomaster von Miquel to be reporter, with Herr Jencke as his colleague. I reserve to myself the right to fix the day on which the Council of State shall reassemble after the Department debates, and I wish you in your work that blessing from above, without which no human acts can hope to prosper."

After the reading of the Address, which lasted about fifteen minutes, the Chancellor begged the Emperor's permission to present the members to him. This formality was gone through by Dr. Bosse, the Secretary of the Council. His Majesty, who wore a cuirassier's uniform, conversed with many of those present, especially with employers of labour. I hear that the Emperor will be present at the Departmental sittings whenever possible.

Vienna, Feb. 14th

No formal invitation to the Labour Conference initiated by the German Emperor has yet reached the Vienna Cabinet. This is somewhat remarkable, as, according to information from Paris, an invitation has already been sent by Prince Bismarck to France.

Austria, when her turn comes, will be placed in a dilemma, as the invitation to the Conference at Berne for May 5 has been accepted by her without reserve. Switzerland has, under these circumstances the priority, and, if the invitation to the Berne Conference be not withdrawn, Austria will be morally bound to attend it. It is to be hoped that German diplomacy will succeed in effecting a union of the two Conferences; but, in any event, Austria will undertake to send representatives to Berlin.

A weavers' strike has broken out in Grottau, Bohemia, for a twenty per cent. increase of wages. The strike is likely to spread into other districts in Bohemia where the weaving industry is carried on.

Berlin, Feb. 14th

The Emperor's opening Address to the Council is regarded in some quarters as weakening the effect of the Rescripts. It is understood that the State Council shall define the limits within which adequate protection may be given to the German working men apart from International agreements. As regards the contents of the Bills to be submitted to the Council, the Committees are pledged to absolute secrecy.

THE GOVERNMENT AND THE BOLSA.

To the Editor of THE STANDARD,

On the 1st of May the new and reformed code comes into operation, and as so few of even the mercantile community are aware of the importance of the reforms introduced, I would suggest your drawing the attention of your readers to its most salient features, which are seen at once, from the report of the "Comision de Reformas" preceding the code, and cannot fail to be of great interest to commercial men generally

Perhaps the most prominent feature, and certainly the one most interesting to the general public, is the introduction and legalisation of the crossed cheque, the safety and advantages of which are hardly any better understood or appreciated by the "lerdos" of to-day than when the system was advocated years ago by Eduardo Madero in the Provincial Bank and rejected by the "retrogrados" of that period. Subsequently the Pagare Committee endeavored to push it through, but met with no better success, and it has been reserved for Eduardo Legareta to press it through to a successful termination.

The new law is identical with the English practice, which the reforming barristers eulogize in the highest terms; and they express their surprise that so admirable a system has not been adopted by the Continental nations where, however, it is remarked, that the cheque system generally is regarded with no little timidity. To Englishmen it must be singular indeed that such remarks apply especially to the German nation. Even in the United States they are behind in such matters, and the only nation besides England where the crossed cheque is legal will be Argentina, from the 1st of May next.

It would be well if you could induce your native colleagues to take up the matter also—if for no other purpose than the instruction of brokers, few of whom seem to know anything about it—nor even do they care. But then, with brokers was it not ever so?

It is only when they are let in for big differences with a defaulting client or colleague that their sentiments are tickled into action, and then they are led to propose the ridiculous monstrosities you occasionally have to expose. The fertility of an exasperated broker's imagination under such circumstances is one of the marvels of our little world here below.

Yours truly

March 15th 1890.

DEATH OF THE SULTAN OF ZANZIBAR.

Zanzibar, Feb. 15.

Seyyid Khalifah Ben Said, Sultan of Zanzibar, died here to-day, after a reign of rather less than two years.

He succeeded his elder brother, Seyyid Bargash Ben Said.

The remains were brought into the town this afternoon, and Dr Charlesworth, of the British Consulate, assisted by Dr Martin, of the Boadicea, proceeded to make an examination of the body, which will be interred this evening.

The doctors report that the Arabs will not permit a post-mortem examination. There are no apparent signs of an unnatural death.

Seyyid Ali, brother of the late Sultan, has been elected his successor.

Great regret is expressed at the absence of General Matthews, who left a few days ago for Bombay. The town is quiet.

The Sultan, or Seyyid Khalifa bin Said, whose unexpected death is reported to have just taken place, has not enjoyed for long the sovereignty of the Island of Zanzibar and of the tributary islands and coast districts. He was the brother of the late Sultan Burghash, the well-known friend of our no less famous Consul, Sir John Kirk, who gave us as long as he lived an unfailing support in our efforts to put down the slave trade. The Sultan Burgash befriended Stanley when in 1871 the explorer arrived in Zanzibar prior to starting on his expedition into the interior of Africa to find Livingstone. He was, in fact, a good ally of the English; and this although he lived long enough to see the limits of his rule extensively curtailed by the pressure of European Powers. Down to 1856 the Imams of Muscat ruled over the whole of the Zanzibar dominions, as well as a great portion of South Arabia; but in that year the ruling Imam of Said of Muscat died, and his possessions were divided His son Majid received the African section, and when he died in 1870 his younger brother Burghash, or Barghash, succeeded to the throne, which he occupied till his death, in March 1888. He left what remained of his kingdom to his successor, Seyyid Khalifa. It will thus be seen that the potentate whose death is now telegraphed from Zanzibar has held sway over the Zanzibaris for rather less than two years. At the date of his accession he was forty-one years of age. He has two surviving brothers, Seyyid Ali, who is thirty-three, and Abdul Aziz, who lives at Muscat. The former resides at Zanzibar, and has acted as the secretary of the late ruler. He has probably by this time been peacefully accepted as the new Sultan. The attention which has recently been paid to East Africa, and the rivalry in the acquisition of territory between European nations, has been disastrous to the Empire which was conquered by the Imams in the seventeenth century on the decay of Portuguese sovereignty. It would be recollected that only four years ago the Anglo German agreement was made by which the sway of the Sultan of Zanzibar on the coast of Africa was confined to a belt of ten miles inland, stretching from Cape Delgado to Kipini, and including certain towns to the northward of the latter point. Yet even this shadowy sovereignty has been still further curtailed by a concession signed by the dead Sultan just after his accession two years ago, by which the German East African Association acquired the right to administer the coast district jointly with the Sultan's officials and to fly the German flag. Similarly the British East African Company has gained the privilege of administrating the Coast from Wanga to Astu for fifty years on condition of an annual payment to the Sultan. The late Sultan belonged in creed to the Mohammedan communion, but was a member of a sect of Schismatics. The Island contains a population of 200,000. Half the shipping which enters the port of Zanzibar is British, and the island is of an immense importance as the centre of East African trade, the gateway to the East African mainland, and the focus of missionary efforts and of the crusade against the slave trade.

Railway Items.

The crisis has destroyed the brilliant and patriotic project of the estancieros to buy up the Western Railway. A very large amount had been subscribed in spite of the tightness of money—60 millions. With gold at par the estancieros would have won the day, but with the premium at 150 per cent, the 60 millions fade into insignificance. Yet the higher the premium in gold, the better for the estancieros, who can get higher prices for their wool, hides and cattle. Was there ever such a chain of contradictions?

Mr Leon Conte has left to join the technical inspection staff of the Dean Funes and Chilecito Railway. Mr. Ed. Schlatter has been named Sub-Inspector of the Ensenada Railway (within city limits). Mr. C. Koenig has been commissioned to inspect the Argentine Great Western. Mr. Albert Seidler has been sent to inspect the Chumbicha and Catamarca Railway. This reminds us that the Manager of this railway has written to the Home-Minister to state that from September to December of last yeart here was a deficit of $14,500, and there has been a deficit of $10,000 from January to date. If the Government does not come to the rescue, the service will have to be suspended.

Buenos Ayres and Ensenada Port Railway.—An extraordinary general meeting was held February 12th, at Winchester House, Old Broad Street, E.C. (Mr. J. W. Batten presiding), for the purpose of considering a resolution increasing the capital of the company to £1,800,000 by the creation of 120,000 new ordinary shares of £5 each.

The Chairman said the proposal was made because the directors had come to the conclusion that in the interest of the company, and having regard to its engagements in the Argentine Republic and engagements recently made with neighbouring companies, it was absolutely necessary that they should enlarge their borders and execute further works and further appliances for carrying their traffic. Notwithstanding the depreciation in gold during the past months, their traffic had steadily increased, and that would naturally suggest to them that there must be an increased rolling stock and increased appliances at either end of the line for receiving and discharging cargo. The issue would be temporarily £5 shares, which could be converted into stock when they were fully paid up. The company was making an alliance with its powerful neighbour, the Great Southern, and the agreement was now on its way to B. Ayres to be ratified.

The directors asked for power to create £600,000 additional capital, but it was not intended to raise it all at once, but by two issues; the first £300,000 would be allotted to holders—the preference and ordinary shareholders—"pro rata", one in four. Of that issue the board intended to spend £100,000 in paying off the temporary loans which they had on temporary debentures falling due on January 1 next, and then they proposed to consolidate their two debenture stocks—to make an issue to pay off the present £400,000 worth of debentures at £110 and replace them by four per cent stock, by doing which they would save about £3,000 a year. He moved first: "That the capital of the company be increased to £1,800,000, by the creation of 120,000 new ordinary shares of £5 each" Mr Ker seconded the motion, which, after a short discussion, was carried unanimously. A number of alterations in the articles, consequent on the increase of capital, were approved, the Chairman explaining that these in no way changed the constitution of the company. A vote of thanks to the Chairman closed the meeting.

The Mid. Ugy. Railway.—The official inauguration of this line of railway will be at the end of the month of July, or at the beginning of August, by which time the works will be already finished to the city of Salto.

On the 15th of April next the line of railway already at work from Paso de los Toros to the Station Queguay very near Paysandu will be opened to the public.—Express.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The gold premium "smoothed its wrinkled front" again to a certain extent yesterday, and a more hopeful feeling prevailed in some quarters. This week is or ought to be, big with important financial events.

The President (who leaves Cordoba on Monday and may be therefore expected here on Tuesday evening), received a telegram from Marshal Deodoro da Fonseca yesterday thanking H. E. for the kind reception accorded to Minister Bocayuva. Vice-President Pellegrini replied—no hay de que.

With regard to the melancholy occurrences that led to the wounding of Captain Simone on board the Villarino, under his command, at Punta Arenas, we have received the following particulars from one who was on the spot at the time. At a quarter past nine at night on the 2nd March Captain Simone gave orders to hoist the boat just in from shore, as he intended leaving Punta Arenas next day at 4 a.m. It appears that whilst giving his orders the hoisting of the boat was not satisfactory, and the sailors maintain that in his usual off-hand and seamanlike way he pushed the subaltern Sub-Lieutenant Ibarra aside; on Ibarra resenting such conduct the captain advanced on him, and Ibarra while retreating drew his revolver and fired four shots, three of which took effect—one on the right, another on the left clavicle, and the third razing the skin near the groin. The gunboat's surgeon, Dr. Mistre, was immediately called up; after an operation of half an hour, he extracted both bullets, one of which was deeply lodged near the left carotide. After successfully extracting both bullets, Dr. Mistre called for the leading doctor of Punta Arenas, who helped to bandage the wounds. The departure of the Villarino was delayed till the 5th, when Captain Simone left his bed to again take active command. But for the flannels and heavy winter clothing he wore at the time Captain Simone would have not survived. Another piece of good luck was the presence of Dr. Mistre aboard. At present the gallant captain is out of danger and as genial as if nothing had happened.

To-morrow will be the Feast of Saint Patrick, the patron of old Ireland. We salute our Irish readers on the anniversary, which will be celebrated, in its religious sense, at the church of the Passionist Fathers in Calle Caridad with a solemn Mass and sermon at eleven o'clock a.m. We are requested to add that the Passionist Fathers will open a mission in the parish church of San Antonio de Areco on Sunday next, the 23rd instant.

The master builders of the city held a meeting last night with the view of throwing shinplasters to Sheol and doing no business in future except in solid gold coin. We were unable to ascertain what resolution was arrived at; but the meeting is a vigorous sign of the times.

We were favoured yesterday with a glimpse at a coloured sketch of the superb stained-glass window to be placed in the Catholic Church of St. Joseph, Southampton, to the memory of the late lamented Captain Hart Dyke, of the R.M.S. "Don." It is a most beautiful specimen of the art, and deceased's many friends in this city can see it by calling at Mr Grant's well known book store in Calle Cangallo. This testimonial is due to an old friend of the late Captain Dyke—Mr Petty, the popular pilot of the Royal Mail Company who collected the cost of the window.

Throwing stones, especially at a gentleman engaged in manufacturing drink, appears to be rather a costly amusement. Don Isidore Testa some time ago shied two big stones at Don Joseph Bovetti with such unnerring aim that the "boveda" of Joe's skull was cracked, and for twenty days he was on the broad of his back in bed, unable to attend to his business, the making of "licores". He now sues Isidore for $5000 ($2500 for each stone thrown); but the latter naturally says "not for Joseph", and it remains for the law to decide.

Dr Navarro Viola finished his manifesto yesterday. It is very sharp, and the anxiety to get hold of the Diario and Nacional in which it appeared was tremendous. Both papers anticipated their hour of issue considerably, yet could hardly keep pace with the demand.

There was little or no news by wire from Montevideo yesterday. The Spanish Floating Exhibition is to be brought to the hammer there.

The Municipality is harder up than ever. Its employees have not been paid their salaries for February yet.

The doleful announcement was made yesterday that the patriotic subscription to buy the Western Railway has burst up. Sixty million dollars paper were collected, on paper! It was a supremely silly business from the first.

There was great laughing in English circles yesterday at the absurd blunder in the cablegram as published by all our colleagues in reference to the sad death of General Elphistone, comptroller of the Duke of Connaught's household, on his way home from or to India. The fault was Galveston's, no doubt, as the telegram came mutilated, and the result was comical. The first to fall into the trap was our highly esteemed contemporary the Prensa, which, strong in almost all other subjects, is rather the reverse now and then in international matters: it not only printed the telegram as it came, but was kind enough, for which we beg to thank it, to add a special paragraph, condoling with Her Majesty the Queen on the tragic death of "her youngest son". The Nacion "saved its bacon" with an editorial note to the effect that there was an error somewhere, and so there was. The Union Correo Español, Operaio, Deutsche Zeitung, and Courrier all stumbled, the latter—as usual when finance and anything English are concerned—striking the funniest note of all by dubbing the ill-fated General "Prince Craufurd Elphinstone"!! (This beats hollow "Lord Gladstone," "Sir Salisbury" and other laughable slips which French papers all over the world persist in indulging in. We seize this opportunity, also, of correcting another blunder in our esteemed colleague's issue of yesterday—Croydon is not in Australia, but is quite close to the Capital of the World—London.) Our esteemed German colleague—and this surprises us, owing to the close connection of the reigning families of the two countries—calls the poor General the Queen's nephew! "En fin," the only one of our colleagues who was able to supply the missing link in the cablegram and print it correctly was the Censor, on which we compliment it.

Mr F G Hartmann, the well-known publisher of 211 Florida, has just issued a very tuneful polka by F. A. Partufueri with the title of "La Crisis". On the cover, a 'corredor de Bolsa' is depicted attacked by demons and "bichos feos", being rather an apropos pictorial delineation of the financial situation.

Our sporting readers will feel interested in learning that ten brood mares in foal have arrived in the steamer Bishopsgate for the new Stud Baradero, recently established about three miles from the town of that name. The new stud evidently means business.

With very sincere regret we announce the death of Mr Daniel Harrington of San Pedro, at the great age of 83. He was one of the oldest Irish residents of this country and held in the very highest esteem by a wide circle of friends who will sincerely regret his demise.

We understand that the laying of the foundation stone of the new church of the Passionist Fathers in this city will not take place until May 4th, the Feast of the founder of the Order, St Paul of the Cross.

The City Fathers of Rosario are on the stool of repentance, and are thinking of saving the Municipal ship by throwing the Municipal doctors and other employes overboard. We hope they all know how to swim. Most doctors do.

A Ministerial crisis in France is nothing new; but it really appears ridiculous that the resignation of a Cabinet can be brought about by a paltry trade Treaty with such a Power as Turkey. The only chance of a French Cabinet remaining in office for even six months lies in following Lord Melbourne's plan—"do nothing."

The Duke of Aosta left a fortune of one and a half million sterling: not much for a Prince, yet still not so bad. He was an off-hand, generous man—every inch a Prince.

The Rosario Reporter says that the celebrated Scotch company of which Mr. Wallace is director will arrive there next week from Chile, and will make its debut in the Olimpo.

There is now on sale in Mr. Nolte's well-known book-store in Calle Cangallo a splendid map of the Islands of the Parana, drawn up by Mr. Carlos Altgelt, and dedicated to Governor Maximo Paz. It is a most valuable map.

The architects in Montevideo are all rushing into print to disclaim the paternity of the miserable parody on the Eiffel Tower erected for President Herrera's installation. The ball at present rests with Mr. Lamarca, but it is expected that he too will pitch it on to some other professional brother.

What is it that ladies are always getting which they do not want? Why, getting old.

Viva! Keep the ball rolling Señores! The truly comical announcement that the Legislature of Salta has sanctioned a two millions sterling loan was wired yesterday from that quarter. It was only the day before that the Government presented the bill, so the lawmakers lost no time about it. They must be all cracked. All except two honorable Senators, who denounced such a loan as ruinous and the purest moonshine, as no foreign capitalists would lend an Argentine Interior province just now even half as many cents as the Salta wiseacres want pound sterling.

A colleague mentions as a sign of the crisis which all who run can read that the blocking of the streets by carts, tramcars, and carriages, so frequent even a couple of months ago, is no longer seen. This if a fact, and a painfully eloquent one.

There was a howl rather of anguish than rage yesterday amongst the railway travelling public on the Northern and Rosario lines on finding that they were doomed to alight at the Retiro and walk to the Central under the broiling sun. An unfortunate Northern carriage ran off the line right under the balcony of President Juarez Celman's mansion, as if to direct his absent excellency's attention to the off-the-line state of the finances, and the traffic was at as complete a snag-up as the situation, economically speaking. The passengers arrived about lunch hour, after a terrible passage through all the chasms, abysses, precipices and barricades in course of construction by the Municipality and City Improvements.

There was a ray of comfort kindled in many a political bosom yesterday by our colleague, the Censor's, cheering announcement to those Pacistas who have been left out in the cold as far as being re-elected to the Provincial chambers. According to our colleague, which is the party organ, those who have to vacate their seats in the Chambers to let new men in, will be recompensed by being made full-fledged directors of the banks, or other state establishments. This give-and-take policy is after all a grand factor in party government. Nothing lost and everybody happy.

Those interested in having Calle Reconquista, between Piedad and the Plaza widened are again pressing the matter on the Lord Mayor, though there is not a cent in the city till to pay for the job. Like the half-finished Boulevard, it will have to lie over for many a day.

Another queer idea. The Rural Society want the Lord Mayor to send the best animals in the Zoo to their Exhibition next month. It will seem to some people that the venerable R. S. has some misgivings as to the success of the Exhibition and wants the help of Polar bears, elephants, monkeys to attract the public. It may not be so, but it looks like it.

The resident Dons are all mightily pleased at the Lord Mayor having gone to the extreme of returning the letter of Dr. Albarracin, President of the Zoophiles, in which he expressed vigorous opinions about bull fighting, opinions that are held by the whole civilized world except Spaniards. Our magnificent Lord Mayor has decidedly erred in the course he has adopted with such an influential and popular society.

We are asked to call attention to the advertizement in another column in reference to Mr. J. Fisher Clink, whose friends have not heard of him for sixteen years.

Fifteen tons of copper to mint into cents have been shipped in England to this country.

LATEST FROM PAYSANDU.

Our newsy contemporary, the Montevideo Express, publishes the following correspondence from Paysandu:—

Don Domingo Juansolo, late saladerista of this, is forming in the Department of Salta a new Cabana, He is proceeding with great judgment in the division of his camp into small paddocks, the erection of lofty galpones and the laying down of artificial grasses.

Mr. Juansolo has been breeding Devon cattle for some little time, his first importation was the stud bull of the President of the Devon Society of England "Royal Sam" Sire Royal Duke (1640) by Royal Aston (1437). This splendid animal was bred by Samuel Kidues and is rich in the Newton's old Bull blood, this wonderful bull was calved and passed twenty years of his existence in the same field, without any protection from the weather either summer or winter, his food in addition to what he could pick up being supplemented during very very rough weather in winter with a small bundle of hay; such treatment developed great strength of constitution together with marvellous growth of hair; the dam of this bull under ordinary feeding gave a dressed carcass of 1340 lbs. Royal Sam has produced some very fine stock and has deeply laid the foundation on which the future reputation of the Cabaña will be built. Somerset (2146), another finely bred bull, has been in use since last year and his calf crop is all that can be desired.

Among his cows stands out Gipsylass Second, a Royal prize winner, full of the great Tempter blood and descended through such prize winning bulls as Master Walter, Forester, Sir George and Master Alix; the mother also represents some of England's choicest strains.

Gipsy Lass 2d. has given birth to two bull calves "Espartero" and "General Prim."

The sheep he has selected are Rambouillet and Romney Marsh, having as Sires the splendid imported rams "Presidente" and "Albion".

It is said that Col. Echeverre has sold his camp in the Rabon to a French syndicate. Mr Federico Gonzalez reports the sale of eighteen "solares" in the Colonia del Porvenir. Mr John Coaker of Villa Colon has secured a valuable plot of ground on the Southern side of the town. 150 "solares" of these rising lands will be thrown on the market, offering a rare opportunity to secure plots at a reasonable price. Mr Coaker also bought 2500 varas in Calle Bolivar. Mr Martin Echemendi has secured a well situated square in Calle Sarandi for $10,000.

The wheat crop will be unequal to the local demand this year, owing to the small extent of ground put under its cultivation but the maize is very plentiful, fairly well grown and has given good yields. Present prices asked, being 1.60 dollars the fanega with a tendency to fall.

Saladeros killing hard, great complaints are made of the scarcity of hands. Casa Blanca engaged twenty immigrants, but they proved themselves totaly unable to endure the hard labor of the establishment. Work here is abundant.

RACING NOTES AND ANTICIPATIONS.

The question of the day amongst racing men is how far will the financial crisis affect the interests of the Turf—will this institution suffer by the present state of affairs or will the public rush headlong into hippic speculation in a vain attempt to dispel their actual troubles for a few hours? Judging only from the poor support accorded to the "remates" during the week, it appears as if the former hypothesis would prove the correct one; but the Buenos Ayres public may, especially if the weather be fine, rally in their thousands to-day at Palermo and show that there is always money for amusement and sport.

The opening programme of the season of 1890 is, although certainly not great, at least interesting, the entries being large and the handicapping exceptionally good. The Premio Inauguracion looks a certainty for San Carlos, but as he is not sure to put in an appearance, we must select, in his absence, Princesa as our representative. Arundel is well in the Premios Relampago and Defensa and should be followed in the race selected for him; in the former event, Dragon looks formidable, and between him and Arundel the winner should be found, although Gaillardo has a great chance and, we understand, is much fancied by her party; in the second-named event, if Ary, start, he should not be made a loser; in this race, Kingsclere, who was let off with a very light impost, gives way to his stable-companion, Peeler, whom, however, we cannot fancy with the weight. The Premio Criadores will introduce us to the first of the '90 2 year olds, and, as, of course, we have no certain data to go upon we rely, in selecting the Ec. San Martin on information that several of the five entered are rather smart. The Premio Combate should be taken by Zest or El Platense, whilst the Premio Luchadores is at the mercy of San Carlos, with all his weight, and only in his absence shall we look for the success of Diputado.

American Whiskey.

DECKER'S

ABSOLUTELY PURE

This wild, mellow and delicious Whiskey is distilled from the finest growth of carefully selected Rye grain and Barley malt. It is a marvel of wholesomeness, excellence and evenness of quality, unequalled by any Whiskey in the market. It is bottled in bond for export only, is entirely free from fusil oil, possesses a natural flavor and fine tonic properties, suited exactly for the use of invalids and weak and sickly persons. It is cooling, refreshing and strengthening so pure, smooth and ripe, and agreeable to the palate as to invite the attention of connoisseurs.

Buenos Ayres.

Dear Sirs.—

Yesterday and to-day I gave the "Toronto Mower" I bought from you some months ago a fair trial.

I am highly pleased with it and consider it one of the best systems (if not the best) of all those that have come under my notice. It works remarkably easily and does not make half the noise of other systems known to me.

I can cut a square of Alfalfa in 3 hours and a half without pressing my horses.

The machine is certainly all you told me it was.

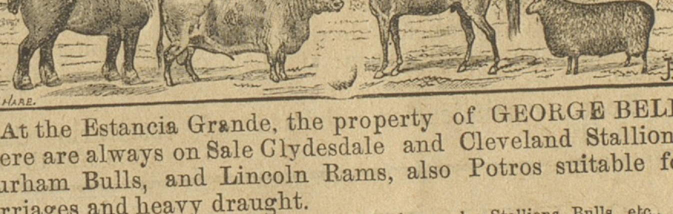

I am, Dear Sirs,

Yours truly,
(Sig) E. Lagier.

THE STANDARD, printed and published every morning at the STANDARD Printing Office, No. 176 Calle Maipu. —Editors and Proprietors M. G. & E. T. MULHALL.

The evening papers Nacional and Diario were published in the morning to-day, and such was the anxiety to read the second chapter of the Navarro-Viola papers, that the whole editions of our evening colleagues were exhausted before breakfast hour at the Cafe de Paris. We give a precis of the paper in another column.

The nomination of the Merchant's Committee to wait on the President produced a very good effect in the market, and there was a decidedly better feeling. People at last begin to think that something will be done to improve the currency, check the rise in gold and stem the present crisis.

A most important step has been taken by the committee of merchants agreed upon at their meeting in the Bolsa. The committee is composed of Messrs E Piaggio, J M Salaca, B Bernhard, J Sanchez, R Bossi, A Spinetto, and Messrs Ottone, Pini, and Roncoroni, O Molina, L J Palma, A Agrelo, F Mendez, P P de Bilbao, B Ramos, J Drysdale and others, a fairly representative body of the commercial community. A resolution couched in the following terms was drawn up with a view of being presented to President Juarez on his return, and signatures are being collected:

1st—To suspend all fiduciary emissions.

2nd—To carry out the law passed by Congress ordering the withdrawal of 58,000,000 shinplasters from circulation.

3rd—To fix a certain time within which the banks must be prepared to convert their notes.

4th—That all railway concessions, with guarantee, of which the time for signing contract has expired, be declared void.

5th—That every possible economy compatible with the proper administration of the Nation be exercised in the expenditure.

Article No. 2 was the subject of a prolonged discussion, as it was argued, and with much reason, that the withdrawal of such a large amount of paper from the market, tightened up as it is at present, must prove a heroic effort; Messrs. J. Drysdale, O. Molina and and J. M. Palma being named to collect names and interview the leading firms in the market. The meeting then rose.

The meeting of shareholders of the Las Catalinas Mole and Deposits Company announced for yesterday has been re-fixed by the Board of Directors for the 29th inst. An arrangement has been come to by this Company and that of the La Plata Moles by which all cargo delivered in closed wagons can be transported to the Catalinas Deposits in the Boca, there being a branch line from the Ensenada line to these deposits.

The meeting of shareholders of the Constructora de Flores, held yesterday, was very largely attended, 38,502 shares or 490 votes being represented. It was resolved to annul the resolution passed at the previous meeting authorizing the board to issue obligaciones to the shareholders in payment of the four million dividend, and to reduce the capital to two millions, in whatever way the board may think fit, but always under proviso that the shares called in do not cost the company over par. The vote for election of Sindico was then taken, Dr. Gmo. Torres being almost unanimously chosen.

Mr. Ferrari, ex-director of the National Bank, having appealed against Dr. Beracochea's decision declaring him bankrupt at suit of Messrs. Monti and Nocetti, brokers, the Judge has decided on allowing the case to go to the Court of Appeal, emphasising, however, his belief in the legality of his former decision.

In shipments of grain we note the following;—

12,659 bags maize per s.s. Malta for Channel for orders, Bemberg and Co.

1,667 bags maize per s.s. Parana, for Havre, J Bertram.

10,925 bags maize per bq. Rolando, for Falmouth, do.

3,140 bags wheat per s.s. Hevelius, for Antwerp, Lorthiois Freres.

900 bags wheat per s.s. City of Belfast, for Antwerp, do. do.

The wheat consignments are the first effected this year.

According to the statistics of fires in this city during the year 1889, the total number was exactly 100, sub divided as follows: Big fires 15, medium 13, small 34 and insignificant 48. With regard to the damages caused as according to declaration of the owners, they amounted to 1,045,345 dols., the capital at stake and insured amounting to 983,550 dols. gold. The total amount of property insured against destruction by fire is estimated at 5 million dollars.

Auctioneer Godoy sold yesterday an old house in Calle Pavon, between Santiago del Estero and San Jose, at 33 m/n the sq. yard.

The Rosario financial muddle seems to be, if anything, a trifle more serious and complicated than that here. Rumour has it that of the Municipal gold loan taken by Hale and Co., a round million gold dollars have unaccountably disappeared, the public works for which the money was intended not getting beyond the plans, while there is only 160 dollars in the till. This is a nice kettle of fish, if true.

The new wheat crop is splendid in every respect. Advices from the western camps and the colonies announce that the buyers are fairly astonished, not only at the yield, but also at the quality.

The following commercial telegrams were received on the Bolsa to-day;

London, March 15th.—Argentine Treasury bonds, 92. Hard Dollar bonds, nominal. Argentine Gold Loan, 1881, 101.

Havre, March 15th.—Salted novillo hides, 54½ francs. Ditto heavy, 63½. Ditto potro, 61½. Cow and sheep tallow, 68. Bones and bone ash, no stock.

Antwerp, March 15th.—Salted novillo hides, 60½ francs. Ditto heavy, 55½. Ditto potro, in Hamburg, 14 marks. Cow tallow 61½ francs. Bones and bone ash, no stock. River Plate wheat, 18¾ francs River Plate maize, 10½ francs. La Plata flax, 26½ francs.

The following passengers were booked to leave Southampton per R.M.S. Magdalena:—

For Buenos Ayres—Miss L Jacobs, Mrs F Brown and family (5), Capt. Ellice, Mrs Ellice, Mr J Bradney, Dr Watkins, Mr J Bocke, Mr T Permain, Miss L S Morphy, Mr Layton Church, Mr C H Parsons, Mr H C Gibbs, Mr H Cadmus, Mr A Johnson, Mr H A Willis, Mr T Harris, Sir G Macpherson Grant, Miss Taylor and maid, Mr D A Sherman and Mr Dudley Saurin.

For Rosario—Mr P H Carwardine, Mr F Corry-Smith, Mr L Corry-Smith, Mr & Mrs J R Stewart, Mr W Palmer Chapman, Col. Corry-Smith, Mr and Mrs McGarrell and 2 children, Mr J Chappel and family (5) Mr Whittington and Mrs Whittington.

For Montevideo—Mr W E Drew, Mr & Mrs W Beaumont, Mr and Mrs W Oxalide.

The s.s. Tyr, Government packet, will leave for the Far South towatds the end of this month.

Advices from Arrecifes announce the sale of capones for slaughter at 3 to 3.20 m/n per head. Sheep in the partido are, in general, in good condition.

The following transactions in real-estate are reported:—

Calle Venezuela No. 462, 8x41 varas for 11,600 m/n.

Calle Piedras No. 1181, 14x60 varas for 90,000 m/n.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's
CHLORODYNE.
THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE

Advice to Invalids.—If you wish to obtain quiet refreshing sleep, free from headache, relief from pain and and anguish, to calm and assuage the weary achings of protracted disease, invigorate the nervous media and regulate the circulating systems of the body, you will provide yourself with that marvellous remedy discovered by D. J. Collis Brown, (late Army Medical Staff), to which he gave the name of CHLORODYNE, and which is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma.

CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms.

CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

From Symes & Co., Pharmaceutical Chemists, Medical Hall, Simla, January 5 1880. To J. T. Davenport, Esq., 33, Great Russel Street, Bloomsbury, London! Dear Sir,—We embrace this opportunity of congratulating you upon the widespread reputation this justly esteemed medicine, Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne, has earned for itself, not only in Hindostan; but all over the East. As a remedy for general utility, we must question whether a better is imported into the country, and we shall be glad to hear of its finding a place in every Anglo-Indian home. The other brands, we are so sorry to say, are now relegated to the native bazaars, and, judging from their sale, we fancy their sojourn there will be but evanescent. We could multiply instances "ad infinitum" of the extraordinary efficacy of Dr. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne in Diarrhoea and Dysentery, Spasms, Cramps, Neuralgia, the Vomiting of Pregnancy, and as a general sedative that have occurred under our personal observation during many years, In Choleraic Diarrhœa, and even in the more terrible forms of Cholera itself, we have witnessed its surprisingly controlling power. We have never used any other form of this medicine than Collis Browne's from a firm Conviction that it is decidedly the best, and also from a sense of duty we owe to the profession and the public, as we are of opinion that the substitution of any other than Collis Browne's is a deliberate Breach of Faith on the part of the Chemist to prescribe and Patient alike. We are, Sir, faithfully yours, Symes and Co., Members of the Pharm. Society of Great Britain, His Excellency the Viceroy's Chemists.

Caution.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated that Dr J Collis Browne, was, undoubtedly, the Inventor of Chlorodine; that the story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, which he regretted to say, had been sworn to,—See "The Times," July 13, 1864.

Sold in bottles at 1s. 1 1/2d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each. None is genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.

Caution.—Beware of Piracy and Imitations.

COMPONEDOR

En este caracter ofrece el que suscribe sus servicios á los bancos, sociedades anónimas ó particulares que tengan créditos pendientes á cobrar ó á pagar.

Su intervencion tendrá por objeto evitar ejecuciones y pleitos, procurando, por medio de arreglos equitativos, salvar los intereses de los acreedores sin sacrificar á los deudores: á efecto, se hará tambien cargo de representar á las sociedades ó particulares que se vean en dificultades, procurando llegar á esos arreglos.

Encargado por dos bancos de gestionar cobros de importancia, ha podido apreciar la bondad del procedimiento usado, consiguiendo, en varios casos salvaguardar los intereses de sus comitentes, sin precipitar á los deudores en la ruina y el deshonor.

Asociado á un distinguido abogado, cuenta con su concurso para los casos en que la intervencion judicial sea requerida, no obstante su deliberado propósito de intentar arreglos que eviten los estremos.

PRICE OF GOLD TO-DAY.
First Ring............. 244.00
Second Ring........... 243.50

Monday, March 17th.

The week opened with a decided fall in gold, consequent on the good news current about the sale of the Western Railway. It is generally said that a syndicate connected with the Buenos Aires Great Southern, Central Argentine and Boca and Ensenada, formed in London, will be the purchaser, and that whilst the trunk line will be taken by the Southern, the branches will be purchased by the other companies. On the other hand, they say that two of our leading German houses have also sent in offers. But whatever may be the upshot of the licitation, it is quite clear that the business has had a most beneficial effect on the gold market and put down the premium at least 20 points.

Business in gold at the first hour opened with such a fierce bearish onslaught that rates came tumbling headlong down, the bulls making little or no headway in their attempt to stem the tide. "Vendo oro" replaced the ominous cry of "compro oro," latterly so prevalent. The bears sold fast and furious, not only for dates but for cash, and so impetuous was the attack that at the close of the hour the rate had fallen to 244 for cash, a drop of nearly six points in the hour, closing at 243.80 for Saturday and 246.50 for end of month. Cedulas were weaker all round, even the National series falling, whilst Provincials threaten a collapse. National Bank Shares shot up to 143 for cash and 145 for end of month. Constructors declined to 32.50 and Catalinas to 35.

The following is a summary of operations effected this afternoon during the first ring: —

Mr Hansen's project to remedy the crisis was in the hands of all the brokers and very much commented on; many view it with great favor and think that if adopted it would save the situation, but others prefer the issue of Mortgage bank notes in place of the present currency. Something must come out of so many and such varied schemes. They said on'Change this evening that the first move of the Government is to collect the Custom House duties in gold, a very capital measure.

We hear of large shipments of copper from England to the Mint here; this means change on our tram lines and no more postage stamps.

Respecting the rumoured 'caucion' of 40,000 shares of the Catalinas Company, we are authorized to contradict the same.

The new certificates of the Banco de Italia are now being delivered at the bank, and shareholders can apply to the bank for same.

There is some movement going on now in certificates of Banco de Italia; we hear of 200 sold on last Saturday at $30 gold and resold to-day, we believe, at 40 dollars.

At the races yesterday, there was a large attendance and everyone seemed well supplied with money. There was no sign of the crisis on the course, but at Palermo there is a great falling off as; for carriages and carriage horses, the prices have dropped within the last month fully fifty per cent.

By advertisement in another column Mr Rom's friends will see that he now intends devoting his great energy and ability to a new pursuit. We know few natives indeed with such indomitable working capacity as that of our old friend and colleague. At one time the pioneer of progress in Flores, the village of the Plain, where he left traces of his enterprising spirit in the Market, in which Messrs Olivera, Boyd, Terrero and Tarragona also figured as promoters, and in the old Macadam road which replaced the impassable "pantanos" of former times; later on interested in providing Mercedes and Moron also with Markets and in building the Pasage Argentino, now the property of Messrs Anchorena, he has never ceased on this account to take part both in the Chambers and press in the great financial questions—verily an untiring figure which neither good fortune could carry away nor adversity cause to falter. Now, tired of paying his clients loss on the Bolsa, he intends devoting himself to a pursuit more useful under the circumstances, as friendly mediator in all businesses paralysed for want of money. We firmly believe that the mediation of Mr. Rom, who knows and is known by everybody, will tend to avert all questions and law-suits as prejudicial to the debtors as the creditors, and which our old friend's tact and "savoir faire" will settle satisfactorily.

The Chargeurs Reunis, French shipping company, has given orders for the building of two new steamers on the lines of the Colonia, 3000 tons register and 1450 horsepower. They will be put on the R. Plate route.

Messrs Lengras and Co. have engaged the s.s. Rosse to load 6,000 bags maize.

The s/s Pernambuco, German mail packet, has arrived at Bahia Blanca from B. Ayres, where she will fill up with bales of wool from the Fuhrman barraca and sail direct for Hamburg. Amongst her passengers are Messrs A Kohlsank and M Hicken.

The sale is reported of four leagues of camp in the partido Villarino for 88,000 dollars, buyers Messrs O Zapiola and A Lopez, seller J M Magallanes.

The following operations were effected in the Montevidean "Centro Comercial" on Saturday :—

Comp. Nacional de Credito—
| | | |
|---|---|---|
| For cash | 1,800 | at 38½ to 40½ |
| March 17th | 300 | at 38½ to 39½ |

After hours—
Comp. Nacional de Credito—
| | | |
|---|---|---|
| March 17th | 100 | at 37½ 37½ |

Business at the second hour was again important, over a million gold changing hands with a further fall in the rates, which left off at 243½ for to-morrow and Satur-
